

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

CPU (Information Processing Unit) of PDA extracts prescribed hardware information such as mounting/demounting of a cradle from hardware information, and carries out telephone operation control such as
5 on-hook, off-hook, etc. on the basis of the hardware information thus extracted. CPU of PDA extracts prescribed hardware information (turn-on state of back light of a display portion) from hardware information, and a hardware controller 2 carries out turn-on control of back light or the like of the display portion on the basis of the extracted hardware information and 10 telephone control information such as information indicating whether a telephone call state of PDA is possible or not.